These tracks are from a Jamplay backup strip library that includes over 700 backup tracks and the ability to browse tracks by style, key or guide. Jam here with the tracks or if you want to download them, you can download them in the JamPlay library. Try developing your solo with the blues ladder and the minor pentatonic with these tracks. In addition, as dorian mode is blusiest of all major scaling modes, it will work on many of these tracks too. Playlist I put all the tracks here in a playlist so you can play them all, and then you can access any of the individual tracks with the transcripts below. Individual songs: The Thrill Absent in Absent Excitement in a slower blues backup track by David Weimann inspired by BB King. Try using a pentatonic scale on the blues scale on it. Transcription: Spicy soup blues in a nice laid-backed blues B by David Weilman, ideal for experimentation with Fentaton b minor and B Scaly Blues. Transcription: Rockabilly Blues in Upbeat Rockabilly Track E practice your solo with Pentatonic Minor E or E Scale Blues. Here's the track transcription: The Minor Blues in B A track backing the Minor Blues in B Minor. Ideal for use with minor B pentatons and try to use some Aeolian B in parts as well. Transcription: Funky SRV in Upbeat Funky Blues is also backed by David Weilman inspired by Stevie Ray Vaughan's Can't Stand the Weather. I put this track last on the list as it regulates between minor and B minor. See if you can hear when the efnan is taking place and try to change scales out of blues or dorian to Blues B or Dorian and back in your squinting when the efnan occurs. This track is a good introduction to scaling you through inside solo. Over 700 additional songs These songs are provided by Jamplay, which is one of the leading online guitar courses containing video guitar lessons from a variety of instructors and live video chat sessions with their instructors. Their tracks library contains over 700 songs that have been inspected by some of the best guitar instructors online. I just took some screenshots of their backup track library so you can get some friends to look at this section: Jamplay.com by
